Frees up hard disk space. You can then identify a particular time range when data is deleted. In addition to your files and folders. Download DataErase Pro The name caught my attention the moment I opened the program. After all, this was a software developed by Aeon Labs, the company that puts their name on the No-Log VPN service created by its CEO Harlan Phillips and Whitfield Diffie. The program is not exactly a VPN software, but it has some similar functions. In fact, its only purpose is to create multiple virtual users that connect to a host computer using VPN protocol. Generally speaking, this happens in two ways: either through a direct connection between a PC and VPN server or through a VPN service. The software is designed specifically for the latter, since it doesn't require any connection with remote network. User-defined CSPs (Connection Security Policy) The program creates a special CSP that can be used by all users. For the first time, you need to enter the username and passwords of other users who will connect to your PC via VPN. After that, you can create new sessions without any further restrictions. With so many users connected to your PC, they are able to use all features and functions of the host device. Why VPN? With Web browsing and file sharing tools, VPN is a must for ordinary users, especially those who are using public Wi-Fi networks. To bypass annoying restrictions and prevent
