Ham Radio Delux 5.0b Build 2893

Download

So you need to find your broadcast frequency, you have three options, dial up the station, if you can get the station on the scanner, or you can go to one of the hams that will help you with his or her scanner. Most hams broadcast their station to anywhere that listens on the radio dial. If you haven't already, we recommend you visit www.fldigi.com and learn more about your local RF station. To get your home frequency, you must have a good radio, its extremely easy to get on this one and it doesn't cost anything to get started. Thanks to the internet its becoming easier to see what frequency you are on and its also becoming easier to find out what the frequency is. I recommend you start with a scanner, something like www.radionz.co.nz Listen to the best available scanner or go down to a local hams house and borrow one and listen for a while. The best frequency is the one you hear the best and the one they hear the best is the one you listen. If you have an amp and a radio, you can do some more testing, but keep in mind the scanner is the best mode for testing. Now that you have the scanner, you can switch to HF or VHF and listen to see what they are broadcasting on. I recommend using a headset when you are outside of the house with your radio, makes it easier to listen and talk on your phone without sending things over the air. You might be
